MAXIMO, O., March 27.-The advance guard of the Commonweal Army arrived in town at 10.10 o'clock, in command of Gen. Coxey. The start was made from Louisville at 9.10 o'clock with 143 men by actual count. The growth at Louisville was fair, but there hav been many desertions.

The day is clear and sharp and the ground covered with several inches of now, which bids fair to be turned into elush before the day is ended. It is command will arrive at Alliance at 2.30 o'clock, where Gen. will take the train for Chicago He claims his presence is necessary there in order to dispose of some of his horses, and that he will be absent but two days, after which he wil again rejoin the army.

LOUISVILLE, O., March 27.—How Coxey's army survived the night seems racle. Herded together like penned-up cattle, 100 men spent the night at the Town Hall, in a room thirty by forty feet. The atmosphere could have been with a knife, and death might have been caused by asphyxiation. However, they were all on hand at 8 o'clock this

At that hour here and there could be seen groups winding their way to camp ready for bugie call. Breakfast was under preparation, and three bushels of some cold ham, bread and sausage were given out. All seemed to be satisfied. Louis Smith, "the unknown," was in command. From all appearances, the army will remain intact, no desertions having taken place.

On the contrary, an increase of re-cruits is expected during the march to Alliance. Coxey and the ides took supper at the camp last night and returned again this morning for breakfast. The weather is moderating and good cheer prevails. A cordial reception is promised at Alliance from reports received in WASHINGTON, March 27.—"Oh, it's foolish, childish," remarked Senator Peffer this morning, when asked about Coxey's army. "I have advised against it from the first," he continued, "and have written letters and in speeches pointed out that no object could be attained by any such haphazard movement." Coxey is a horse trader, horse racer and a gambier to start with, and it is not presumed that he could bring about him the men who would be necessary to give weight to such a movement.

"I believe in organization, but there is nothing in this movement that commends itself to the judgment of those who desire to stand up and fight for men and women. This army is, of course, one of peace, and I do not anticipate that it will cause any trouble, but the authorities can but prepare to see that no breaches of the peace are committed. Hamilton's Denver contingent of Coxey's army will have to walk out of town unless they pay their fares. It was announced Sunday night that the Santa Fe would be called upon to furnish a train for the pilgrims. At the Santa Fe office it was said last night that the Company had refused to furnish a train to the California division of the army, and would undoubtedly repeat its refusal should the Denver contingent make its promised demand. The other roads will also decline to give free transportation.

It is possible, however, that only a few days may elapse before ne learns his fate. Meanwhile he will remain undernominal arrest, and his sword will be held by Admiral Gherardt, representing the Government.

Court opened to-day with the reading of the previous day's record, and then the witnesses heard yesterday were handed their testimony, as taken by the court's stemographer, and told to make whatever corrections were necessary.

Lieut. C. G. Bowman was next recalled to the stand, and Lieut.-Commander Marix, counsel for the accused, took up the direct examination.

Lieut. Bowman was asked a few technical questions concerning his method of working out the results he had obtained from a study of the Kearsarge's charts, and then Commander Heyerman was put on the stand in his own defense. Only one question was asked him by his counsel, it was:

"Had you any reason to suppose, or did you know, at any time on Feb 2 that all the positions of the Kearsarge as handed to you were not the results of the calculation made personally by your navigator?"

"No, sir.

Juggs-Advocate Kelley said he had no desire to question the witness, but the Court wished to ask one. The question was written on a slip of paper and first handed to the Judge-Advocate, who read it to the witness, as follows:

"Did you plot the position of the ship on the chart from the recorts furnished."

The question was asked because this was what took place on Feb. 2, according to the testimony of Navigator Lyman.

Capt. Adair answered that he could not say from personal experience whether current change very quickly from one point of the compass to another directly opposite.

It was found that Commander Heyerman was not prepared to-day to make the statement which will close his case, so an adjournment was taken until to-morrow at 11 o'clock, when both sides will sum up and the case will go into the hands of the Court for consideration.

It was definitely learned to-day that Lieut. Charles H. Lyman, Navigator of the Kearsarge, would be court-martialled after Commander Heyerman's case is disposed of. The charges were received from Washington this morning.

There are two charges, neglect of duty and culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty. The first charge has three specifications: First, that he failed to personally take an observation on the morning of Feb. 2; second, that he failed to obtain the local deviation of the compass on Feb. 1. The third specification is the same as the second, except that Feb. 2 is specified as the day on which he failed to take the compass deviation.

The second charge is, in substance, that Lieut. Lyman, well knowing that at about sunset on Feb. 2 the Kearsarge had run her estimated distance from the 4 P. M. position, as ascertained by him, to the position of Boncador Bank, and that, although he was well acquainted with the difficulty of sighting the reef from a safe distance after dark, he failed to advise Commander Heyerman to lay a safe course to the northward before continuing on a westerly course.

Young Webster, who is six feet two inches tall, and is in appearance and de-meanor far older than his years, left of the Board of Electrical Control, the the St. Lazare Station at Paris on a train bound for Colombes, where he intended visiting some relatives. He was not seen after that, and was believed to have been murdered and his body thrown into the Seine. inspectors employed by the Board have not received any pay for three months The inspectors, of whom there are fourteen, are Tammany men, and State are paid, is a Republican.

He has the money to pay them, but his refusal to do so is said to be part of a missing boy.

Mrs. Conkling, the boy's mother, cabled a $5,000 reward for any clue leading to her son's recovery. She also left for Paris to personally lead an investischeme of the Platt-Reid-Milholland combination to force the Board of Elecrical Control to consent to a division gation.

Nothing definite was learned of the affair after that until last Sunday, when Mrs. Conkling arrived on the French steamship La Touraine, accompanied by of patronage. The State Civil Service Board some time ago, before Mr. Roberts was Comptroller, raised the issue that the employees of the Board of Electrical Control were subject to their jurisdic tion, and called upon the Subway Commissioners to furnish them with a lisof eligibles for examination.

The matter was referred to Corporation Counsel Clark, who decide that the Subway Commission was a local board. The way Commission was a local board. The electric companies pay the expenses of the Board of Electrical Control through the State Comptroller, and that is all the State has to do with the Board or the Hoard with the State, as it has no jurisdiction outside of New York City, Secretary Moss, of the Board of Electrical Control, saw Corporation Counsel Clark in the Mayor's office to-day, "Mr. Clark," said he, "can't you do something for these poor inspectors? They have earned their money and are entitled to it."

"I wish I could help them," replied Mr. Clark, "But I cannot compel Mr. Roberts to pay them."

"Why don't you give Milholland half the places, Moss, and then you'll see how quick your men will get their money," suggested a politician.

Mr. Moss replied that the Corporation Counsel's opinion to the effect that the Subway Commission is a local board is good enough for him, and he would not furnish the State Board with an eligible list to have experienced and efficient men displaced merely to make room for political camp followers.

Some action will probably be taken to have the status of the inspectors settled in court.

Mr. Moss announced that there was not this morning. Two weeks ago to-day he left his home early in the morning to buy a pair of shoes. Since then he has not been seen or heard from. His wife is broken-hearted through the fear that her husband is dead. She spent the morning going from one police station to another, and finally winding up at the Morgue at Bellevue Hospital. She falled to find her husband, dead or alive. He had trouble with an employee at the Second avenue surface road stables, at Ninety-sixth street and Second avenue.
